GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

Bound for Paris.

New York, July 3—The knights of Albany Commandery No. 5 of Pennsylvania left the city for Liverpool to-day en route for the Paris exhibition. A number of their brother knights of this city [illegible] saw them off. Their departure was [illegible] a grand ovation and all kinds of mutual good wishes were expressed Pools on the Tenbroeck-McCarty race this evening opened with the mare the favorite at the rate of 100 to 90 for the horse. At the close, however the odds turned [illegible] and [illegible] 100 for Tenbroeck to 80 for McCarty.

Attempted Assassination

Richmond, Vt, July 3.—An attempt was made at Sweetsburg, Quebec last evening to assassinate Edward H Goff, president of the Boston, Montreal and Portland railroad. He was in the library conversing with his brother when two shots were fired through the window by some unknown person who escaped. Goff was uninjured

WASHINGTON CITY.

Surveys in California.

Washington, July 3.—Senator Sargent and Representative Page to-day obtained a promise from Commissioner Williamson of the general land office that not less than $25,000 or $30,000 shall be allotted for surveys of public lands in California out of the $300,000 appropriated by Congress for surveys throughout the whole country during this fiscal year, and that in addition he will use in surveying timber lands in California one half of the extra amount of $30,000 which was granted by congress, mainly through Sargent's efforts for survey of timbered lands exclusively. The entire amount allotted for surveys of all kinds in California last year was only $17,000

Free Postal Delivery

Sargent and Page made another visit to the postoffice department to-day on the subject of free postal delivery for Oakland and finally procured the assurance of an order authorizing the appointment of six carriers and the inauguration of the service in Oakland on the first day of October [illegible] beginning of the next quarter. Sargent will start for California next Monday

Visalia Desert Lands.

A report on the Visalia desert land entries has been prepared by one of Commissioner Williamson's heads of division for his consideration, and he expects to make his decision concerning this long pending controversy at an early date

Railroad Lands.

Prominent officials of the interior department have expressed the opinion that the department's efforts to procure a return of lands issued to the Central Pacific railroad company for the lands situated within the limits of the rejected Manuel Diaz grant will not be successful. This opinion is based on the reason, among others, that the railroad company has probably long ago sold these lands to third parties, and the title of recent purchasers in good faith cannot be disturbed

ATLANTIC CABLE.

Austrian Army of Occupation.

London, July 3.—Advices from Bosnia report there are 40,000 Turkish troops in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and 20,000 between Novi Bazar and Pristina. The Austrian army of occupation will muster 141,000 men, owing to the hostile attitude of the population of the provinces, but no military resistance is anticipated, and the instructions from the porte to Turkish plenipotentiaries in the congress authorizes the latter to consent to the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria on conditions that the duration of occupation be previously determined, strength of the army of occupation fixed, and occupation confined to certain limits

CAPTURE AND ESCAPE OF A DESPERADO

A correspondent writing from Ashland under date of 2d instant, gives the following account of the arrest and escape of a desperado named Webb, at Dennis Crowley's ten miles west of Linkville, on last Saturday

It seems that Webb escaped from Butte county, California, several months since, where he was under arrest for stealing cattle and suspected of other and more heinous crimes. He came to Lake county and hired out to Mr. Crowley to labor on his ranch. The sheriff of Butte, named Weed learned of his whereabouts and, accompanied by a deputy, arrived at Crowley's last Sunday morning and arrested their man. They disarmed and handcuffed him and waited for breakfast. When he had finished eating he asked leave to step through the open door into another room to get a drink of water. The sheriff consented and Webb walked in and unobserved slipped one of his hands out of the handcuff. A woman with whom he had "taken up" since his arrival in Lake was in the room and it is supposed, handed him a revolver with which he turned and shot the sheriff three times. Once in the [illegible] ranging downward into the [illegible], once in the right forearm and once in the right side. He then fired two shots at the Spaniard but without effect. Being thus master of the situation he hurriedly made preparations to leave. Meantime [word] had been conveyed to Linkville and the constable, accompanied by four or five men, arrived on the ground. Webb defied them to arrest him and threatened death to any who attempted it. Being now armed with a Henry rifle and revolver the constable [illegible] party took him at his word and [illegible] suffered him to ride away, and he is now at large. The sheriff's wounds are not considered mortal

AN INDIAN'S PROPERTY STOLEN

KLAMATH AGENCY, LINKVILLE, June 28, 1878.

Hon. Rufus Mallory—Dear Sir: A white man calling his name Charley Carson with appellations such as the "white chief," [illegible] came upon the reservation a few days ago and borrowed a pony and equipage and a rifle gun of an Indian ostensibly for the purpose of hunting. He has since left these parts by way of the military road to Hugene [illegible] was seen about 75 miles from the agency on Tuesday morning, saying he was going to the Black Hills, and at other times that he was going to Walla Walla and also to Eastern [illegible]. He is dressed in buckskin clothing, has a sandy complexion, long hair, thin [illegible] light side whiskers about 5 feet 10 inches in height, rather slim and of feminine appearance. He claims to have been raised by the Indians in early life and to be able to speak several Indian languages. He also claims to have been a scout of General Crook's during the Indian war a few years since, and that he is a nephew of Kit Carson. He is probably on his way to the scene of the Indian war, and will doubtless apply to General [illegible] to act as a scout

The value of the property stolen is somewhere between $70 and $100. All [illegible] statements made can be established by credible witnesses

Will you be kind enough to have this put into The Oregonian and [illegible] the U. S. marshal of the facts in this matter. I have also written Gen. Howard and the agent of Warm Springs reservation. Yours respectfully,

J. H. ROOKE, U. S. Indian Agent

A man named [illegible] Derby has taken a [illegible] and damming contract on the Fraser river, between New Westminster and Yale, by which he undertakes to reclaim 10,000 acres of land in what are known as Sumas and Chilliwhack valleys

THE POTTER INVESTIGATION

[illegible]

Q. He hesitated about doing [illegible]

Q. What kind of paper was it written on

A. It was written on [illegible] foolscap paper. Witness then showed the [illegible] of paper which was about half the size [illegible] Mrs. Jenks asked the letter was written on. She claimed it was written on a single sheet of common letter paper. Witness said it was arranged before the election by K. Hogg, Thos. C. Anderson and Zacharie to [illegible] affidavits of intimidation in the parish of Feliciana and West Feliciana for the purpose of throwing out these parishes. He was assured by Kellogg and others that if he would [illegible] he [illegible] with [illegible] that they would [illegible] the protest. He [illegible] witness would return to the senate. He was defeated for the state senate by about 1,200 votes, and was returned [illegible] elected by a good majority

In reply to [illegible] witness stated that a [illegible] statesman had an interview with Eliza Pinkston in the custom house before she was brought before the returning board. [illegible] those who interviewed her was [illegible]. He was of the opinion that the Pinkston outrage was a put up job

Question by Springer—Did you see the affidavit Eliza Pinkston published in a New York paper?

A. Yes sir, and to the best of my knowledge and belief it is true

Witness [illegible] concerning a visit [illegible] by his sister in law concerning [illegible] Jenks. [illegible] the following letter which was [illegible] to Mrs. Dan. Weber [illegible]:

NEW ORLEANS, May 2, 1878.

MADAM: In the [illegible] Washington [illegible] letter [illegible] to have [illegible] Mrs Jenks will [illegible] respectfully (Signed) [illegible]

Mrs. Jenks explained to Mrs. Weber that she [illegible] desired her to go to Washington and testify [illegible] did not know of the existence of the sherman [illegible]. Mrs. Weber refused unless called upon by the proper authorities. [illegible] threatened to have [illegible] Weber [illegible] Jenks asked what that woman [illegible] again and whether she was after [illegible] letter. Mrs. Weber [illegible] meddle with her affairs [illegible] the Sherman letter and knew what [illegible] At this time [illegible] Weber [illegible] sister in law that he had destroyed the [illegible] Mrs. Jenks had told Mrs. Weber the letter was worth thousands of dollars and said she would pay her a good price for it. Mrs. Jenks [illegible] said to Mrs. Weber that she [illegible] with the authorship of the Sherman letter [illegible] spoke of it as a letter written by John Sherman assuring Weber and Anderson positions under the administration if the paper [illegible] affidavit was produced but Judge Shellabarger objected [illegible] the affidavit being put in evidence [illegible] for the present. Witness submitted in evidence a letter written him by Judge Marks now internal revenue collector at New Orleans wherein Marks requested witness to inform him Marks whether he had received the appointment he had made application for. If not Marks would look after it for him. Marks also requested witness to [illegible] Mrs. Weber that he thought he could secure her appointment as postmistress at Donaldsonville [illegible] which she had once applied and been unsuccessful, Marks being at that time opposed to her appointment. Marks previously to writing this letter had been to Donaldsonville and requested Mrs. Weber to make a statement to the effect that she had never known of the Sherman letter. During his visit Marks told witness and his sister in law that they were both to be summoned as witnesses before the investigating committee. Witness stated that as he was under the impression the approach made by Marks was [illegible] with the view of influencing his testimony [illegible] committee. Through certain parties he [illegible] Mrs. Weber's testimony before the committee. Witness was after some further and unimportant testimony [illegible] to report [illegible] committee on the 11th inst., when his cross examination will be begun by Con. Cox.

Committee then adjourned until July [illegible]

FROM SOUTHERN OREGON

ASHLAND, July 2, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Indian war rumors are the order of the day just now, but as is usually the case the farther away one gets from the scene of conflict the more sanguinary are the rumors. Careful inquiry of parties arriving every day from Lake county fail to confirm the report of murder of a single citizen anywhere [illegible] of Curry creek where Bernard had his recent engagement with the Indians. There is a general apprehension among the people of Lake county, Oregon and Modoc county, California, [illegible] impending danger and many have left their homes and sought refuge in Linkville and a number who have friends and relatives in Ashland have found it a convenient time to pay them a visit just at this particular juncture. That there is immediate danger in any portion of the district from which the people have fled those best informed do not believe. But that there are circumstances which under the present excited state of the public mind are somewhat alarming all concede. Ocheco chief of a small band who are nominally wards on Klamath reservation has been quite saucy of late and has been heard to make ugly threats. Another fact generally conceded is that a small number of lawless Indians who belong to the reservation are in communication with the hostiles. Signal fires have been seen on the mountains north of Goose lake from Lakeview and other points in the valley. These signs of danger naturally revive the memory of the Lava bed tragedy in the minds of the people. Last week was the time for the regular term of the district court at Lakeview. Judge Prim, District Attorney Hanna and a number of other attorneys, went out to attend to judicial matters but found it impossible to procure a jury and the judge very properly adjourned court and all came home. Klamath chiefs [illegible] to [illegible] the whites with the belief that the Indians on the reservation are peaceably inclined, and in all probability [illegible] is the fact at this time. But there is one thing that it is criminal to overlook. That is that the people of Lake county are at the mercy of the Indians should they suddenly change their pacific mood and commence hostilities. The Indians are all well armed and have plenty of ammunition and good horses. Not half of the whites are armed and they have no organization for a rallying point in case of sudden emergency. The little squad of soldiers at Fort Klamath would find enough to do in defending that military post should a general insurrection of the agency Indians occur. In short it may be truthfully stated that if the citizens of Lake county are permitted to escape the horrors of the torch and the scalping knife they will owe their safety to the honor of the Indians and not to the protection afforded [illegible] by the government. [illegible] control of Klamath and Yainax reservation and if reports be true the Indians [illegible] W. A. A.

Excitement Subsiding in Lake County

YREKA, July 3.—A man from Lake county yesterday reports the excitement in regard to the Indian alarm [illegible] returning to their homes. A Deputy Sheriff Shot by his Prisoner.

On Monday the deputy sheriff of Mendocino county and a Spaniard arrested a man named Webb living the past two months near Ukiahville for murdering a man in Mendocino and running away with his wife. When sitting down to breakfast Webb asked the deputy to take off his handcuffs and said he would not try to do anything. The deputy took them off and a woman came in with breakfast and setting it alongside of Webb gave him a pistol. He shot the deputy four times. The Spaniard fired. Webb chased him a short distance and then made his escape. It is reported that citizens have him surrounded in a log house. He has a rifle and pistol with ammunition and swears he will not be taken alive. The deputy is not expected to live

JOHN DAY CITY, June [illegible] P M.

[illegible] arrived from Camp Harney this evening bringing no news except that Gen. Howard is supposed to be near the South Fork of John Day's river. He states with [illegible] brought in by a citizen [illegible] Canyon City to this place [illegible] using but one horse arriving here this morning asking government aid for [illegible] of John Day's valley. I have ordered all the cavalry in my district [illegible] small companies to this point without delay but none of them are within several hundred miles of the John Day river valley. It is a cruel disappointment that I have no co-operating force available to meet and check these Indians. Gen. Howard is evidently driving them

THE VERY LATEST

The following was received last night at 11 o'clock P M, half an hour before midnight

WALLA WALLA, July 3, 11 30 P M.—The sheriff of Umatilla county reached here this morning, having left the scene of the present hostilities last night about 10 o'clock. From the Umatillas and Major Cornoyer he learned that upon the first appearance of the Bannacks they offered to barter their plunder [illegible] 2,000 [illegible] for [illegible] assistance [illegible] in [illegible] disturb or molest any of the property belonging to the Umatillas. In addition the Bannacks stated that whether they received [illegible] or not they proposed to fight their way to the Columbia river that they were determined to cross that stream and that when once across they would not [illegible] any resistance. The Umatillas declined to accept the offers thus tendered when the Bannacks opened fire. The Umatillas numbered about 60. Of these only 30 were armed. Cornoyer reported two of his men killed [illegible] the point of this fight is about 10 miles from Pendleton

LATER.—The stage that left Pendleton at 6 o'clock this evening has just reached here and brings the intelligence of the courier at that point who reports that the Umatillas had been defeated and were falling back toward the reservation, the Bannacks being in pursuit. This courier reports the number of Bannack warriors at 600 and the entire number of hostiles including men, women and children to be 2,000. They are well armed and the warriors mounted on fine American horses most of which were captured in the recent raid through the John Day country. On receipt of the news the stage station at Cayuse was abandoned, the stock and vehicles being removed to a less dangerous locality. All the country for miles around the vicinity of Pendleton is being deserted. The settlers and their families are fleeing to the towns for protection. The residents of Weston and other points in this vicinity are filled with the panic stricken settlers

A company of 40 men under command of [illegible] left Pendleton this morning. This force will be increased by at least 40 more at Pilot Rock. A volunteer company has been organized at Weston. The lack of arms prevents the organization of other companies. Major Throckmorton with two companies will push on and will be at Pendleton at an early hour in the morning. Reports that the Bannacks are receiving accessions to their ranks from the renegade Indians in this vicinity are in circulation but I am unable to trace them to any reliable source. That there are a number of Moses Indians with them is known to be a fact but how many it is impossible to state, probably not more than thirty as he (Moses) reports that number missing from his band and is of the opinion they have joined the hostiles. It is certain that the force under Buffalo Horn increases rather than diminishes. All the information that he gathered renders it almost certain that the hostiles intend to cross the Columbia somewhere between Wallula and Snake river. From where they now are one day's march over a good trail will bring them to the desired place. The military authorities here under Gen. Wheaton are active but owing to the insufficiency of the force at hand are almost powerless, many of the companies being reduced to twenty men and [illegible] WHEATON

The More Murder Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, July [illegible]—The prisoners charged with the murder of A. W. More over a year ago at his ranch were arraigned to plead this morning. James Howard, of Los Angeles, appeared as additional counsel for the prosecution. Mr. Hay for the defense moved to set aside the indictment on the ground that McCart had never before been held to answer and the charge against him and the case had never been submitted by order of any court of competent jurisdiction to the grand jury. The court gave the prosecution one hour to find authorities to meet the point.

At the afternoon session of the court two [illegible] motions to the indictment were overruled, whereupon all the prisoners except Jones, the state's evidence, pleaded not guilty. Jones declined to plead and the court ordered the [illegible] plea entered. The defense then asked for time and were given one hour. At the [illegible] separate trials were demanded for all the prisoners. The prosecution then elected to take up the cases in the following order: Sprague, Churchill, McCart, Crane, Ford, Hurt and Jones. The theory of the prosecution is that Sprague and Churchill were the organizers of the conspiracy. The trial of the former will commence [illegible]

Endorsement of Hayes in Ohio

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Telegraph, whose information as to political movements in New York City is always of the first order gives this explanation of the way in which it was done

It is becoming no longer a secret to say that considerable pressure from this quarter has been brought to bear upon the more prominent Republican delegates to the Ohio state convention to meet at Cincinnati on Wednesday but the pressure it is proper to add, is only in the shape of friendly advice. To speak plainly Republicans of high standing here have given the Ohio brethren to understand without any mincing of words that a failure to endorse or stand by President Hayes in his own state will impart fresh momentum to the Potter committee and that it will more than anything else encourage them to be more aggressive and to push their plans to the point even of impeaching the president. The Republican politicians sending these messages warn their friends in Ohio that they know more than people at a distance can possibly know of what is going on under the surface of things here in New York to put Mr. Tilden in the White House and it is this knowledge that makes it a solemn duty to admonish them that they cannot at a crisis like this afford to play into the hands of the opposition by aught that may be construed into a desertion of the president by his own party in his own state. They disavow all disposition to dictate but consider it devolving upon them as members of the same great party, to send this friendly warning

THE INDIAN WAR.

The Indian news is of very serious character. It seems to verify the conjecture made by Gen. Howard and telegraphed from his headquarters in the field several days ago, to the effect that the Indians were ready to try to make their escape by a rapid march toward the north crossing the Columbia river and pushing on to their lands. Gen. Howard, it is probable, cannot be far behind them. From the Harney lake country they have traveled rapidly towards the north. On the 29th June they were encountered by a small party of citizen scouts on the South fork of John Day's river. We are as yet without particulars of the result of this encounter, but there is reason to fear that the small party of whites suffered severely if indeed all were not killed. The Indians are now heard of at a place known as Camas Prairie, a basin in the Blue mountains at or near the head of Birch creek about thirty miles south, or east of south of Pendleton. It is not very clear,—supposing them to be fleeing before Gen. Howard and trying to escape,—what course or route they are trying to take, whether across the Blue mountains with a view of escaping toward the east, or through Umatilla county, directly toward the Columbia river, with a design of crossing over and so eluding pursuit. But the general belief seems to be that they are making as fast as they can for the Columbia river. What particular band of Indians it is cannot be positively learned. It is hardly probable that they are the same which Bernard fought some ten days ago, though it is a possible thing. They are spoken of as Snakes, and may be the band or a portion of the band from Malheur reservation. To us it appears very probable that they are a marauding band merely on a raid for plunder, intending to secure all the booty they can and then retire rapidly toward Stein's mountain again. Should this be so it will very likely be found that their numbers are exaggerated by the reports we have received. But all these things can only be weighed as probabilities. It is certain there is great alarm in all the country east of the mountains, and justly so. There is no telling where the hostiles may make a sudden descent. Savage warfare is at the doors of our own people. It has been transferred from the fastnesses of the desert to the homes of those who are a part of our commonwealth and entitled to its protection. What, then, should be done? Before a force could be enrolled and equipped here and sent to the place of danger, the Indians almost certainly would be gone, and the effort would be a failure. But there is a course that seems expedient, practicable and necessary. In the eastern counties there are men enough. All they want is organization and arms. The governor ought to obtain without an hour's delay a proper quantity of arms and ammunition, and go in person, attended by his staff, to Umatilla. Arriving there he would be able to judge what ought to be done. If necessary he could issue his proclamation, call men into the service, and arm them at once. This method could be carried into effect more quickly than any other, and at the same time it would avoid a call for volunteers should it appear that the Indians were gone, and that the companies could not be of service. Immediate action should be taken. Should it appear on further information that help from here could be made available, volunteers should be called for in this part of the state. No higher duty can devolve upon the whole community than that of protecting all its members, as far as it may be able, against a public and savage enemy.

—A midnight dispatch shows that the situation is much graver than heretofore reported. It is now believed that the entire force of Bannacks has made a descent upon Umatilla county. The whole country is in consternation, and fugitives from all quarters are pouring into the towns nearest them for safety. A party of Umatilla Indians, after making a gallant fight, have been driven back. The hostiles avow their intention of pushing across the Columbia river. It is probable this can be prevented, though there is great want of arms. Everything possible must be done at once by the authorities of the state and by the citizens of Portland. Our dispatches report a scene of frightful confusion. There is no word from Gen. Howard, but it is known that he is pushing his men to the very utmost limit of endurance to come up with the Indians. Should they be detained only a short time longer it is likely he may be able to strike them. It is an immediate duty to hurry arms forward. If the citizens of Umatilla and Walla Walla had arms at once, they might be able to annihilate the whole band of invaders. The emergency calls for prompt, decisive action.

FOURTH OF JULY.

It cannot be questioned that the peculiarities of the old fashioned Fourth-of-July celebration have nearly all vanished. They who are old enough to remember the celebrations which were enjoyed say thirty years ago, will understand what this means. The unchecked enthusiasm over the simplest recital of our marvellous and mainly peaceful progress; over hackneyed harangues against "British tyranny" and the "bloated aristocracies" of the Old World; and over the soaring tendencies of our national bird, cannot be revived in its freshness and buoyancy and happy unconsciousness of the terrible evils at the heart of our national life.

There has been a new and sobering experience. Formerly the patriot was an optimist. In his mind there was no suggestion of questions and difficulties that now begin to rise and press for solution. He had no hint of coming social and political disorders. Society, compared with its present complicated forms and interests, was extremely simple. The wants of the people were few and readily supplied. But a small proportion of them had ever come in contact with the allurements of the cities. No man expected to get a living without earning it. The class, now growing so large, who try to live by preying upon society in one way or another, was almost unknown. Government was distant from the people and every one felt that he must regulate for himself. Times are changed and we are changed with them.

Nevertheless, the past reaches down to the present. The old influences and the old spirit are not wholly gone. They are ... the new forms and new experiences and new, we trust, ... enough to believe public virtue dead and patriotism ... Knowing the dangers that are to be met our people will be better able to triumph over them. It will yet be demonstrated here that government of the people, by the people and for the people is not to perish from the earth.

RUSSIA AND CONSTANTINOPLE.

Russia expects to go to Constantinople ultimately, and bides her time. During the past year she has taken the greatest stride she ever made toward that goal of her ambition; so great indeed, that England thinks she has gained a great triumph in barely keeping her from attaining it. But she has gained a position which will make the next opportunity an easy one. To Russia, above all other nations, the possession of Constantinople and the two straits would be a source of strength both for offensive and defensive purposes. The country bordering on the Black sea and along the great rivers which flow into it, would furnish unlimited supplies ... for armies operating either in Europe or Asia, with the capital as a base of supplies. Naval squadrons driven before an enemy would find in the sea of Marmora an absolutely safe retreat, and in the city an inexhaustible storehouse. The Euxine would become a Russian lake and its shores and rivers would be absolutely guarded against the attacks of hostile fleets. From the far interior of Russia the waters of this sea and its affluents would bear supplies and men, to be forwarded by rail or water to any desired point. The land line from the Baltic to the mouth of the Danube would still require to be guarded against immediate neighbors, but to the rest of Europe Russia would still be practically unassailable. Here she is protected by distance and by winter, two allies which have heretofore overcome her most powerful foes. On the Baltic she proved to be unassailable in 1854-55. On the Black Sea she would be even more so if Constantinople and the straits were once in her possession. And her tendency toward them seems irresistible. She did not expect to obtain the great prize now, but will hold her present vantage and bide her time.

Col. Larrabee has proposed for the constitution of Washington an article forbidding any person, corporation or association, except railroad or canal corporations, and then only for necessary operation of their roads or canals, to acquire or hold in fee more than 640 acres of land, except by gift or purchase direct from the United States. We have had reason to commend most of the work of the convention so far as it has proceeded, but here is a proposition which appears to be dictated by a spirit of concession to the supposed communistic tendency of the time and is as unnecessary as impracticable. Public sentiment in Washington territory is certainly not in sympathy with the vagaries of communism. Such restriction as to landed property, could it be enforced, would be even more a detriment than an advantage to the public weal, because it would prevent in one very important direction those accumulations of capital on which considerable undertakings must always depend. It would, no doubt, prevent certain abuses; but at the same time it would be a clog and burden upon the general enterprise and progress of the country. It would virtually abolish the species of security generally tendered and accepted for loans of money; because mortgages on lands would be of no value unless the mortgagee had a right to acquire title in default of payment. We cannot suppose that this proposition will go into the fundamental law of the new state.

In the debate in the senate on the proposition to pay the expenses of President Hayes' Louisiana commission (which was tabled by a large vote) Mr. Conkling sarcastically spoke of the members of the commission as "tourists," whose doings were "without warrant of law and in violation of law;" and Mr. Blaine denied that the president had any right "to send five men to New Orleans to tall off enough members from the lawful legislature to recognize Nicholls as governor." And only Matthews and half a dozen others on the Republican side voted against tabling the amendment to pay the commission. The New York Tribune says: "The senate's action was the first official censure passed upon the appointment of the commission, and doubtless means that, however warmly the party may have rallied to the president's side when his title seemed in danger of revolutionary attack, a large proportion of Republicans still refuse to be reconciled to the methods by which the Louisiana settlement was reached."

Some hanger on or other of the senator who "got left" by the recent election in this state, and whose candidacy for re-election was the means of defeating his party, writes from Washington City a letter (published in one of the stipendiary organs) in which the senator's alleged achievements are once more extolled. Of course those who call those achievements in question, or haven't a microscope of sufficient magnifying power to see them, are roundly abused. It is observable, however, that in these so-called achievements defeat of a railroad for Oregon is not enumerated. Still, the encomiums are quite to be expected. It cannot be supposed that the idolaters will at once discontinue their worship because the image of brass which they had set up has been thrown down. It will take a little time to get over the habit.

The locality, Camas Prairie, mentioned as the scene of the fight in Umatilla county, is a sort of basin near the summit of the Blue mountains, and is about thirty miles east of south from Pendleton. The hostiles are in all probability attempting to get away from the regulars who are in pursuit. The opportunities of checking the movement of the savages before they cross the Columbia will be much better than after. They will move with all possible speed, their object being to escape, but everything in their line of march which is not defended will be destroyed.

St. Nicholas for July opens brightly and seasonably with a story of patriotic interest, by Charles H. Woodman, entitled "The Girl who Saved the General." It is a stirring account of the heroic act of a young girl during the bombardment of her father's plantation in the Revolutionary War; and is illustrated by a telling frontispiece by Mr. H. F. Farney. This is a very attractive publication.

Now that the Umatilla Indians are fighting faithfully and pluckily to beat back the hostiles and save the homes of the whites from pillage and the torch, will anybody hereafter have the face to propose to rob them of their lands?

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 4, 1878.

WORK FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

EUGENE CITY, July 2, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In a recent number of your paper I saw a statement or report made by the grand jury of your county in regard to the insane asylum in East Portland. These jurors commend the contractor and keepers for the cleanliness system, healthfulness, etc., etc., of the institution. In fact they make it appear that it is rather a desirable place to go to. As an evidence I suppose of the truth of their statement they incidentally tell us there are at present 245 inmates, and all but two, I believe, supported and expenses paid by the state. Whether or not the inmates find it so desirable a place that they would willingly stay there if they could have their own way might be questioned; but there can be no doubt that it is a desirable place to send our friends, especially if they are impecunious or in any way troublesome.

There were in the asylum in 1868, as reported by the contractor ninety-one patients. This year just ten years—the number has increased to 245, an increase of about 170 per cent. Our property valuation on which taxes are laid and money raised for this and other state expenditures has only increased in the same time 70 per cent., whilst the population of the state has not increased much more rapidly than the capital. Whither are we drifting? The state pays for the keeping and other expenses incident of these 245 inmates of the asylum, in round numbers, $75 000 per annum; requiring a levy of nearly two mills on the dollar on all the taxable property of the state.

Is there such an increase of real insanity and idiocy within this state as these figures would indicate? If so, and the ratio in the future increases as in the past, there will soon be more inside than outside the asylum, and those within will die for the want of the ability of the few without to provide for the many within.

I turn to the law in relation to the insane and idiotic. I there find what has been characterized by one of our judges in a celebrated case referred to him as an "act very loosely and unskillfully drawn." So much so, in fact, that it is a shame and a disgrace to the state that it has remained so long on our statute books. The only purpose that seems to have been had in view by the person drawing the bill was that the contractor should get as large a number of patients as possible, and those of the kind least expensive to keep, thus making the most possible profit out of the state. This law, through the efforts and influence of the contractor, has remained from its first enactment to the present time substantially without change.

Under the provisions of this law a parent, at the expense of the state, can dispose of a troublesome child—a child of an aged or decrepid parent, a husband of an uncongenial wife—a wife of a sick husband—any one of a relation that has become a burthen, and the county of its poor. This not only can be done but is done. Unless the patient has property that no one else wants or has relatives or friends that "desire" or are "willing to pay the expense"—I quote the law—the state pays the whole. Over ninety-nine out of every hundred are supported by the state.

I do not believe there is anything like this increase of real idiocy or insanity within the state. There is no cause for it apparent. The state has made a bid for them. It is to the interest of some parties to get rid of, and of others to get possession of the "so called" idiots and insane; hence they are here.

Is there a remedy? Yes; simple, just and effective. 1st, make the property of the patient, when he has no helpless dependents, pay the costs of his case as far as it will go, instead of being gobbled up by friends, or wasted for want of care.

Second—Compel near relatives, when of sufficient ability, to pay charges when the patient has no means.

Third—In case neither the patient nor near relatives have the means to pay for care and treatment, then the counties should pay each for their own insane and idiotic, just as they now support the poor. Let the state pay for those only who are not properly inhabitants of any county.

I believe a bill having these provisions was introduced at the last session of the legislature, but whether through the influence of the contractor, or from some other cause, it failed to become a law.

Who will take up the work? It will be no light task. Not only the contractor will be constantly and persistently at work himself, but, as he testified before the Grover investigating committee, he will have others under pay. Will he always be successful? V.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
